

CAREB-ACCER REQUEST FOR QUOTATION FOR

"Professional Consulting Services for Design, Development and Delivery of the CAREB-ACCER Anti-Black Racism Research Ethics Discussion & Education Series"

RFQ#: CAREB-ACCER RFQ#001

Issue Date: March 29, 2021

Closing Date: May 25, 2021 @ 10:00pm EST

INTRODUCTION:

The Canadian Association of Research Ethics Boards/ L'Association canadienne des comités d'éthique de la recherche (CAREB-ACCER) is a grassroots national membership organization intended to represent the interests of all Canadian Research Ethics Boards ("REBs") and to reflect REB perspectives and concerns. The CAREB-ACCER Board of Directors ("BOD") has made a commitment to engage in cultural competency training and make accessible to its membership and the broader Canadian research ethics community, cultural competency training with an initial focus on anti-Black racism and equity education in support of its efforts to dismantle existing systems of oppression within the Canadian research ethics sector (the "Initiative").

OBJECTIVE

As a national research ethics organization with a vision to: (1) promote professionalism through the sharing of expertise, experience, information and knowledge; (2) represent and communicate the perspectives and concerns of Research Ethics Board (REB) professionals in local, national and international policy development and implementation; and (3) provide education and resources needed to successfully promote the ethical conduct of research CAREB-ACCER is obligated to be part of leading the change in the Canadian Human Research Ethics field as it relates to Anti-Black Racism. In order to do this CAREB-ACCER, has embraced the important concepts of:

1. Accountability, specifically individual and organizational accountability; and
2. Learning

through this Initiative.

RATIONALE & PURPOSE

Through a focus specifically on anti-Black racism, and a commitment to unlearning our own biases and minimizing our role in reinforcing systems of oppression CAREB-ACCER is equipped to lead the charge in the Canadian Human Research Ethics field as it relates to addressing anti-Black racism and all forms of racism and prejudice within the research ethics field.

Our focus on anti-Black racism is an important distinction given the absence of discussion, action and focus on this issue in the broader area of diversity and anti-oppression work in the Canadian Human Research Ethics space. With the work we have begun in our own learning and unlearning, the under representation of this issue in the Canadian research ethics context (both content and education) and our national and international reach, we are committed to addressing anti-Black racism. Through this work we strive to be an enabler in solving a lot of the systemic issues that affect populations that are victims of racism, oppression and prejudiced systems in the Human Research Ethics space through education, awareness and action. As a national organization and leader in research ethics, it is critical that we enable and encourage anti-Black racism discussions, education and action to equip research ethics boards and researchers on how to approach research with an equitable and diverse lens (the "Purpose").

SCOPE OF WORK

This RFQ is being issued to obtain quotations for the design, development and delivery of anti-Black racism research ethics discussion and education series for the Canadian Research Ethics community in alignment with the Purpose.

The successful proponent(s) is expected to:

1. Design and develop a series of anti-Black racism education sessions relevant to the Canadian research ethics context that integrates the ethical principles within the Canadian Institutes of Health Research, Natural Sciences and Engineering Research Council of Canada, and Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council, Tri-Council Policy Statement: Ethical Conduct for Research Involving Humans, December 2018 (TCPS2) and creates a safe space to learn, discuss and consider the connections between intersectionality, the research process, and ethics as it relates to anti-Black racism ("Anti-Black Racism Research Ethics Educational Series").

2. Deliver the Anti-Black Racism Research Ethics Educational Series content through a CAREB-ACCER secure platform.

The Deliverables

Deliverable 1: Completion and delivery of the first educational session in alignment with the Purpose.

Deliverable 2: Completion and delivery of the second educational session in alignment with the Purpose.

Deliverable 3: Completion and delivery of the third educational session in alignment with the Purpose.

Deliverable 4: Completion and delivery of the fourth educational session in alignment with the Purpose.

Deliverable 5: Completion and delivery of the fifth educational session in alignment with the Purpose.

APPROACH & BUDGET LIMIT

This RFQ is open to a collaborative multi-proponent award approach in which one vendor may execute on certain deliverables and another vendor(s) executes on the remaining deliverable(s). Funding for this work was secured through a federal Secretariat on the Responsible Conduct of Research Education and Training Support (SETS) grant awarded to CAREB-ACCER. The budget allotted for this work (series of 5 sessions) is $7,500.00. Proponent's proposal may outline an alternate approach for educational content delivery (e.g. alternate number of sessions). If a proponent cannot commit to all deliverables within the stated budgetary allotment, consideration will be given to alternate pricing proposed by a proponent for the full scope of work.
